Cordial Invitation to the Online Lecture on 09.12.2021, 6:00 pm (CET)

Florian Tanz

Das Badewesen im römischen Trier und dessen Umland

(Bathing Culture in Roman Trier and the Surrounding Area)
(Lecture in German)

Florian Tanz studied Classical Archaeology and Egyptology at the University of Trier. He did his doctorate on the water supply and sewage disposal of Roman Trier. Since October, he has been employed by the city of Trier in a model project for the creation of an archaeological urban cadastre.

About the lecture:

Bathing is an integral part of Roman culture. It is therefore not surprising that numerous traces of ancient baths have also been preserved in the territory of the Treverians. In addition to the three large thermal baths in Trier, a good dozen other bathing facilities are known from the city. But baths were also part of the equipment in the villas in the countryside. The lecture will give an overview of the development in the city and the countryside. In addition to the well-known large spas, small baths and their equipment will also be presented.
